

Designer User Interface

6.05 Designer - Directories Menu

The Directories Menu is where users can select the default script directory to use. You can specify up to four script directories and Liquid UI will search each of these in order. Only those directories actually specified in the GuiXT.ini file will show as active – all others will be grayed out as in the following example. The Directories menu is shown as follows:

Note: You must specify the directories in the GuiXT configuration file.
